Firemen March Pole To High School, But Flag Still Droops

Carmel High School's new 50foot flagpole is on campus, but prone. The school's 20-foot flag still flies from a 23-foot flagpole.

High School Principal Warren Edwards says the hoisting hitch is a hinge. He realizes, perhaps, at some time something such as an effigy might be surreptitiously suspended from the top of the pole and to remove the object it would be necessary to climb 50 feet up the pole or get special equipment. So, the pole will be hinged near its foot, Two organizations have offered to hoist the several-hun-

Trustees Name It Carmel Junior High School

Carmel District school trustees named the new junior high school at the mouth of Carmel Valley last night. The name, on which they congratulated one another for directness and appropriateness: Carmel Junior High School.

Board President Dr. Grant Fletcher had urged immediate action on chosing a name because with the school being talked about so much even in its initial stages of construction, "we can't go on calling it 'the new junior high school at the mouth of Carmel Valley,' or 'the institution at the bottom of the hill'"

Trustee Clayton B. Neill, Jr., formulated the motion which preceded the unanimous vote, moving to name the institution at the bottom of the hill Carmel Junior High School." The phrasing was then slightly edited, perhaps to make it clear the board didn't have in mind the shopping center, which is also an institution at the foot of the hill down Highway One and a fraction of a mile east on Carmel Valley Road.

Architect Thomas Elston, speaking before the board on progress at Carmel Junior High School, said action at the site had been "heartening." Soil under major buildings and corridors has been compacted, he said, and builders believe they can start pouring concrete in the gym area next week.

The board last night also: Heard a progress report from the Citizens Educational Study Committee headed by Dr. Richard Awarded a one-year contract for comprehensive liability insur-ance to P. A. McCreery whose company submitted a low bid of $3,774.76

Referred to the P-TA safety committee a letter signed by some 20 residents of the Farm Center, neighborhood on Carmel Valley Road requesting removal of the bus pick-up stop for 21 Carmelo School children from the Center to a less hazardous location.

The letter said traffic from the merging roads was extremely heathe Farm Center and the (Continued on Page Twenty)

Hudson Strives For Control Of Utility Services In County

Plans to place utility services underground in all subdivisions in the county are being made, according to Thomson Jay Hudson, chairman of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

Mr. Hudson announced his intention to strive for this control at the recent open space planning conference in Monterey sponsored by the Area Planning Commission.

Since then he has pursued his intention. Last Monday representatives of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company agreed to place their utility wires underground wherever possible. This coming Monday afternoon representatives of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company will meet with county personnel to discuss Mr. Hudson's proposal.

The county planning staff under Ed DeMars is working on the matter. Eventual control will be by county ordinance.

After discussing the fact that schools all over are using IBM cards now for keeping personnel and students' individual records, the Carmel school board last night scrutinized some of the district's own cards, full of the familiar little holes, then heard Superintendent Stuart Mitchell say:

"Someone was telling me about school principal in southern California who accidentally stepped on his IBM card with his golf shoes on and gave himself a raise in pay."

ALL XXXX Monterey County Supervisors, Monday, continued until February 19 public hearing on an ordinance to prohibit two-wheeled motor ve-hicles from Los Padres National Forest except on four trails which allow motor scooter travel from the Salinas Valley to the coast.

PADRE VARSITY WINS GUSTINE TOURNAMENT; LIGHTWEIGHTS THIRD

Running true to form, Carmel High's big varsity basketball team made a shambles of the Gustine Invitational Tournament as it powered to three decisive victories over the small schools in the tourney. The Padres walloped Hilmar, 53 to 29, in the first night's play; rolled over Hughson, 43 to 28, in the semi-finals; and routed Los Banos, 46 to 26 in Saturday night's finals. This is the second year in succession that Carmel has garnered the championship trophy in the Gustine hoop festival.

Carmel's lightweight team made a good showing is the Salinas Lightweight Tournament, beating host Salinas the first night and losing to powerful Cubberly in the semi-finals. In the third-place play-off, Coach Lippstreu's charges played a sterling game to whip the big Watsonville Wildkittens, 33 to 26. Cubberly's lightweight crew went on to win the Salinas Tournament by clipping Gilroy, 33 to 16, in the finals.

Coach Dick Lawitzke's welldrilled varsity was never behind during the action at Gustine, moving to quick leads in all three games and increasing the margin throughout the succeeding quarters. In the opening night's mismatch against Hilmar, the Padres were in front 33-14 at the half and resorted to the bench for most of the second-half play. Jim Brown (14) and Teddy Leidig (14) were the top scorers for the Red & Grey with Jim Kelley and Pete Morse doing a fine job of sweeping the Hughson offered a little more opposition than Hilmar, but was no match for the clever moves of Pete Morse, Jim Brown and Jim Kelley. Morse and Kelley banged in a dozen markers each while Brown found the range for five field goals. As in the opening game, Coach Lawitzke made generous use of his eager bench.

In Saturday night's finals against Los Banos, it appeared the poised Padres might get a test from the stubby valley lads, but the game turned into a rout as Brown, Bob Palma and Morse burned the nets for a runaway victory. Brown's 13-point effort was high for the final game, with Palma (12) and Morse (11) close behind, Sticky defensive play by Teddy Leidig and Jim Kelley put a damper on the Los Banos attack which had looked potent in the first two Throw out its two games with the strong Bakersfield quintet, and the Monterey Peninsula College team would be undefeated for the season. The Lobos were clipped by the Renegades in the Bakersfield Tournament and dropped a close one to the same club at Los Altos. Coach Larry Cummins sends his charges against the Fresno State Frosh tomorrow night and travels to Visalia for a joust with the Col-lege of the Sequoias on Saturday night. Tournament play will occupy the Lobo squad for the rest of the year with the Coast Junior College Tournament slated for the new Foothill gym on December 18-20, and the Hancock Invitational Tournament at Santa Maria on December 28-30 . . . Santa Cruz High established itself as the team to beat in the A-division of the CCAL when it won its own tournament by clipping Monterey in the finals, 36 to 35. The overtime action was decided by a pair of free throws by Bob Perkins, a vital factor in the Monterey victory with his game-high of 27 points. Coach Bob Hagen's Gilroy quintet wal-loped Watsonville, 60 to 34, to take home the third place trophy. Gilroy was the only B-division school in the tournament and the Mustangs came close to winning the works.

This year it was published in translation, and because of its size, it was put out in two volumes, which is a good thing for us all. The writing is masterful. The Kirkus review says that this novel will command major critical notice. English title is The Demons, Dorothy Salisbury Davis has done a flock of mysteries and edited mystery annuals. Her latest is straight fiction, and is entitled The Evening of the Good Samaritan. It follows the lives of several characters over a period of 25 years, carrying them through the war, and the years which came after. Well written and well reviewed.

Readers of the books by Angus Wilson will be delighted that he has a new one just out. It is entitled The Old Men at the Zoo. It has to do with a plan to evacuate animals from the London Zoo to a preserve in the south of England, and the repercussions of the project all over the country.

Retirement poses many problems and opportunities for growth, and such is the basis of a novel by Edward Streeter which is entitled Chairman of the Bored, After his retirement, Graham Crombie and his wife moved to the country, and there they learned to do a lot of things they had never even thought of before. Edward Streeter tells their story with his own form of lightness. Good reading, and pertinent.

The tenth novel written by Louis Zara has been titled Dark Rider. The story is based upon the life of Stephen Crane, that great genius whose passion in life was to be free. Reviews tell us that for the admirer of Stephen Crane, this book will be an exciting experi-Our own reaction is that it would be an exciting experience for any reader, it's that well done.

By fall, 1966, Monterey Peninsula College expects an enrollment of 2500, according to statistics quoted by MPC President Frederick R. Huber in his annual report, issued last week.

Dr. Huber used the figure in a survey of the building program planned by the Master Plan Committee to cope with the projected enrollment at the colege.

The 2500 projection, according to table used in the annual report. is based on enrollment increases since 1955, when the total was 804, through a total of 1371 in the fall

Joan Baez Enthralls Audience With Folk Singing At Benefit Hootenanny For Station KPFA

Since folk singing is supposed not to lend itself well to concertising, folk enthusiasts hold hootenannys instead. Like calling a spade a shovel, this makes a lot of people happy but doesn't change things much, since a hootenanny is only a concert after all, but with the audience joining in from time to time.

Local folk singers and their visiting friends held a hoot with smashing success in Sunset audismashing success in Sunset auditorium Saturday night. The only trouble was that the evening was far too small to cram in all the talent waiting in the wings, and a few artists like Marcia Berman, who sang so promisingly to the young fry during an afternoon, smaller-scale hoot, got left off the night program entirely.

Golden moment of the evening was the appearance of Joan Baez, one of the nation's top-ranking folk vocalists and recording artists. It would be plenty safe to say that, even before she sang a word, she had the Sunset audience at her feet, figuratively as well as literally, and after she had sung a time or two-well, to put it simply, everyone just loved Joan. Her voice is indescribably, hauntingly lovely, and her stage personality matches her voice. Variety was her motif Saturday. She did a wide tour - from a parody on a rockand-roll singer, to The Gospel Ship to the Hebrew Dona Dona.

Because the concert—pardon us! hootenanny—was a benefit for listener subscription radio station KPFA-FM, described aptly by emcee Joe Broadman as "The Voice of America in America," and because most of the singers were not only of amateur status but donated their time, it wouldn't serve any purpose to make critical comment on their very welcome offerings. However, there were certainly a few stand-outs, some of them among the local group.

Mike Sherry, for instance (daughter of the Bob Sherrys of Monterey), has all the ingredients of a real Elaine May type comedienne, perhaps more so, since she handles a guitar and sings as well as makes people laugh. Mostly she does all three things at once.

Jess Washington and Roy Buckman, a duo from San Francisco State College, called the wind Maria with professional flair, earning several encores, and The Southwinds, Tony and Ron, who already have quite a local following, "fit" the battle of Jericho with style and promise, joining their audience for Pay Me My Money Down. (Broadman also—or perhaps it was someone else—described a hootenanny as a program where you can't tell the audience from the performers.)

Smooth, professional and hilarious was Melvina Reynolds, also a recording artist and popular purveyor of her own songs of the school which is delicately described by most "non-folkists" as "songs of social satire."

Did they wash you down the stair,

Billy Boy, Billy Boy? Did they wash you down the stair, charming Billy?

Yes they washed me down the stair, and they rearranged my hair

With a club in the City Hall Rotunda.

In one of the singing groups was Bob Renk, son of the late Dr. Eldon Renk who helped so much to put folk singing on its feet in this area. The groups included the Nineteenth Street Singing and Marching String Band, which dazled its audience by constantly shifting instruments and sang well too, The Leftovers, The Outsiders and several more. Barbara Tuttle pleased with her voice and her extra able accompanist, Bunyan Webb. Rounding out the group was Ed Cray, folk song scholar and collector who is a KPFK staff member in Los Angeles.

In the afternoon, Miss Berman had joined Cray, Broadman and Miss Reynolds to keep the youngsters on the edge of their seats with The Carrion Crow, The Ghost of Anne Boleyn, The Muffin Man, Old Joe Clark, songs for singing in the dark, for singing in the bath-tub and other corkers.

A full quota of congratulations should go to Joe Broadman for his organizational efforts and the resulting full auditorium Saturday night. We bet there'd be no opposition to having a hootenanny in Carmel again, and again and again.

"most asked"questions about

electric blankets

Q. Do you really sleep better with an electric blanket?

A. Almost everyone does. An electric blanket spreads just the right warmth evenly over the entire bed. And with just one light covering, there's no "blanket wrasslin"... you sleep soundly, wake up refreshed!

Q. How do you control the warmth?

A. An electric blanket lets you dial the sleeping comfort that suits you best. Just turn the blanket on each night—the control does the rest, automatically maintaining the temperature you set.

Q. What about dual controls?

A. You can buy an electric blanket for a double bed with two controls one control for each half of the blanket. This way, husband and wife can each select the sleeping comfort desired.

Q. How do you make a bed with an electric blanket?

A. Some models have contour corners for perfect fit. Others spread across the bed like an ordinary blanket. Either way, bedmaking is easier with just one blanket.

Q. Can they be washed?

A. Yes—just follow the manufacturer's instructions. Made of cotton, rayon, nylon and the new synthetic fibers, they dry soft, fluffy and ready to spread.

Q. What sizes are available?

A. You can get "twin," "double" and "king" size (twice twin-bed size). Both single and dual controls are available on double bed sizes.

Q. How much does an electric blanket cost?

A. Cost varies with size and quality, but the average price is $20.

And, of course, you need only one electric blanket, no matter how cold it gets.

Q. What does it cost to operate?

A. About a penny a night, thanks to PG&E's bargain rates for electricity—a mighty small price for a good night's sleep!

All River School Pupils Carol For Christmas Program

Yesterday morning River School gave its annual Christmas carol programs. The whole school gathered in the cafeteria and all the children sat on the floor around the Christmas tree as each grade waited its turn to sing. The kindergarten started off with Jingle Bells, followed by the first grade singing O Tannenbaum in both German and English.

The school orchestra, directed by Miss Sharon Jones, River School music teacher, played an old German carol, Oh Come, Little Children. The Drummer Boy was sung by the third grade, and then the whole school joined in singing Silent Night and The First Noel. The fourth grade sang The Pinata, and the fifth gave the school Joy to the World.

Quite a feat was accomplished when everyone joined forces to sing The Twelve Days of Christmas. Thanks to the words being held aloft on big cards by 14 students, all 12 days came off without a hitch. The program ended with the sixth grade singing an intricate arrangement of Oh Come All Ye Faithful in both Latin and English, and then all 500 carolers trooped back to their classrooms.

Accompanist for most of the carols was fifth grade teacher Priscilla Nesbitt. Terry Head, a sixth grader, accompanied her class for its number.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Christmas music in the churches started Sunday with a performance of a portion of Handel's Messiah in the Post Chapel at Fort Ord. The choir of the Chapel assisted by the Fort Ord Soldiers' Chorus and other singers gave the program under the regular chapel conductor, Bernice E. Engelbrecht. The Carmel Harmony

Hill String Ensemble directed by violinist H. M. M. Nicholas, with George Beck, violin; Marie Sale, viola; Mary Dobel, cello, and Edwin Culver, bass; also Harlen Wesselink at the organ and George Marshall at the piano, ably supplied the instrumental part of what is considered the Christmas portion of the Messiah leading up to the Hallelujah Chorus.

Soloists were Naomi Lesko and wives, and one high school senior. Carmelites in the group include Miss Karen Bruckner and Miss Carolyn Smith. Mrs. Will Johnson of Carmel Valley is also one of the singers.

At the beginning of the service, there will be solo performances by Miss Hazlitt, Mr. Farr and Dan Marshall. Dan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Marshall, Jr., of Pebble Beach, is a Carmel High School graduate, Susanne Pollard, sopranos; JoAnn Coffey, alto; Melvin Brown, tenor, and Winn Carrol, bass. Of these, all of whom earnestly did their parts, tenor Brown gave the best rendering of Comfort Ye My People and Every Valley Shall be Exalted. The chorus of nearly 80 should, on the whole, have sounded fuller, but possibly the acoustics of the chapel were not too good where I was sitting.

However, some voices of the Soldiers' Chorus came out well. The spirit of the presentation was excellent and the filled house listened with reverence and rose in a body to its feet for the Hallelujah Chorus.

Favorite solos and choruses from the Messiah were also given the same evening by the Presbyterian and First Baptist churches of Monterey

Christmas Bureau Needs More Toys And Men Volunteers

Monterey Peninsula Christmas Bureau is endeavoring to have a well-stocked-grocery store and toy shop for distribution on December 22 at Monterey County Fairgrounds, The Christmas Bureau, now in its fourth year, coordinates Christmas gift-giving of local organizations, individuals, and public welfare groups. Families eligible for assistance are certified by the Family Service Agency for six Peninsula cities, Marina, Carmel Valley, and interlocking are as.

Mrs. Mark Thomas is general chairman.

A Food for Christmas drive is being conducted this week in the schools with the cooperation of the Peninsula Parent-Teacher Association and the Christmas Bureau.

Reports on donations of money, toys, and canned foods, and progress of toy repairs was made by committee chairmen at a recent Bureau meeting in the USO. Mrs. Greene Erskine, doll chairman, reported good response to the call for dolls and women to dress dolls. Mrs. Lloyd Jenkins, toy chairman, said her committee needs more toys. At this late date they must be ready for giving, or at least almost ready.

Headquarters at Monterey County Fairgrounds will be manned daily December 18-22 from 9:00 o'clock in the morning each day. Canned and non-perishable foods may be delivered there during these days, as also may be toys and dolls that do not need repairs. In the meantime, donors may get in touch with the chairmen, or deliver donations at fire stations where pick-ups are made whenever the Bureau is notified.

The Bureau is in need of assistants at headquarters from December 18-22. Men especially are needed and there have not been very many men volunteers so far.

Money donations are payable direct to Mrs. Richard Still, 10 de los Amigos, Pacific Grove. Mrs. Still is the Bureau treasurer.

The Toy Store was tried out and proved so successful last year that the same method of distribution is being used this year. Parents are encouraged to make a choice of toys as they know those which will most please their children. By a card system parents will also select the foods suited to family needs. In this way Christmas Başket pitfalls are avoided, in which families get supplies they do not need or like. The Bureau also feels that this "shopping" by parents adds to their Christmas pleasure and gives an opportunity to play Santa Claus for their own families.

Shopping appointments for December 22 will be sent out to parents, and when necessary, transportation from the Fairgrounds to their homes will be available through the Monterey Peninsula Board of Realtors, Attending the USO meeting were Mrs. Mark Thomas; Mrs. Richard Still; Mrs. Erskine; Mrs. Jenkins; Mrs. Lorraine Luker, secretary of the Family Service Agency; Mrs. David Thorngate, corresponding secretary of the Bureau, and Mrs. Marjorie Gless, recording secretary; Mrs. Clifford Melton and Mrs. J. S. Brennan, food chairman and assistant; Mrs. Theodore Morris, Mrs. L. M. Thompson, Monterey Councilman Mrs. E. B. Coyle, Fire Chief MacQuenney, Lieutenant Buendorf, and Fred Stanley.

SALT MARSH SERENADE

The wind blows sweet across the bayou.

Scent of salt-marsh grasses in its wake;

Lonely cries the weird-toned loon at twilight,

As lengthening shadows reach toward earth to take

Small denizens of river-land and meadow

Into secluded depths of night's cool shade;

While tiny voices herald dusk's oncoming

With murmurous strains of evening serenade.

AMETHYST

There is an amethyst upon the moon
That lends a shadowed elegance to night;
It sings to those on earth a plaintive rune,
It is a chalice of ethereal light.
If you will cup your palms tonight at twelve,
This amethyst will spread dark crystal beams
Upon the waiting lake where all may delve Beneath those silvered waters where it gleams.
—ORIAN DEPLEDGE

THE RELICTS

Living ghosts totter thru the altered village,
Pause in doorways, halt at the curb.
Age-scaled eyes peer at the awesome pillage
Time has wreaked on all that was known
In that far day when morning came with wings
And it was not their way to be alone.

From all their kind they flee, estranged.

The shrunken heart now turns upon the shore.

A wisp of smile uncurls, for there, unchanged,
The ancient pulsing sea, beloved brine;
The gulls, the crinkled bluff, the slipping sand,
Rough solace to a stiffened hand, the pine.

—EDITH M. SHERMAN

I look for an oasis;
finding none, I perish in the Sahara of my life.

WHAT CAN WE DO ABOUT CHRISTMAS?

Often discussed this time of year is the feeling that something should be done either to return to our Christmas traditions or to replace them with something else if they have lost their meaning.

Sometimes we criticize the secularists for over-commercializing the holidays.

Or we engage in endless talk of the truth or fiction of parthenogenesis, as if we could accept or reject Christmas by some easy theological route. If you are concerned with some easy theological route.

If you are concerned with such things, you may be interested in what many Unitarians think about Christmas (though one of the characteristics of the Unitarian Church is that there can conceivably be as many thoughts on a subject as there are Unitarians). To us the significance of the teachings of Je s u s is far more important than possible strange cfreumstances surrounding his birth.

We invite you to visit us at Christmas. Our holiday service will be at 11:00 o'clock in the morning of Sunday, December 24, in the Monterey USO building, near Lake El Estero. Reverend Karel V. Vit will be the speaker on, "The Christmas That Never Was."

For more information on Unitarianism, write P. O. Box 251, Pacific Grove, California.

Huxley Lecture On Station KRML Sat., Xmas Music Daily

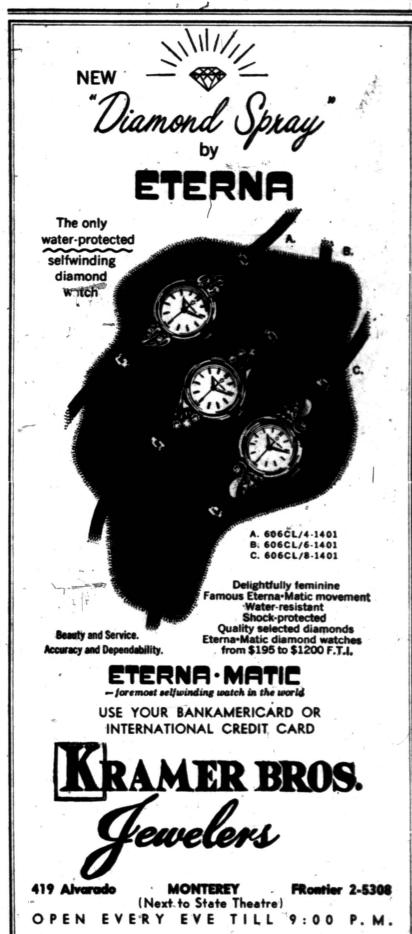

A three-hour program, Music for the Season, is being broadcast daily from radio Station KRML in Carmel.

Music for the Season began on Thanksgiving Day and will conclude on New Year's Day. The program is primarily designed to provide listeners with only the finest recorded music carefully chosen to reflect the moods and attitudes of the holiday season.

The program follows Symphony Hall at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon with an hour of light classics and "pops" that can only be categorized as charming and bouyant. In the second hour the music quickens its step as it weaves in and out through a holiday bustle and preparations atmosphere. The third and final hour imparts the boundless joy of Christmas-time in a mosaic of sound highlighted by the favorite melodies and hymns of Christmas against a background of stirring compositions unconfined to any one seaso

Sunday morning, 10:30 o'clock, KRML will present, as a public service, Aldous Huxley's talk on Visionary Experience at Monterey Peninsula College last Friday evening.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at the Pine Cone.

McKever Appointed To New Crocker-Anglo Development Job

Robert McKever, Jr., until now vice president and manager of Crocker-Anglo National Bank's Monterey office, has been appointed the bank's Monterey regional business development manager. At the Monterey office, McKever will be succeeded as vice president and manager by Raymond H. Smith, it was announced by President Paul E. Hoover.

As vice president and regional business development manager McKever will coordinate and supervise the business development program at the bank's five offices on the Monterey Peninsula. In his new capacity, he will continue to be located at the Monterey office, but will report directly to Crocker-Anglo's administrative headquarters in San Francisco.

McKever was educated in Monterey before beginning his banking career with The First National Bank of Monterey in 1922. When that banking institution was merged into Crocker-Anglo in September, 1959, McKever continued with Crocker-Anglo at the Monterey office as vice president and manager.

Trial By Jury Opens Tomorrow Evening At Circle Theatre

The sound of singing emanating from the neighborhood of Casanova Street and Ninth Avenue in the evenings is not made by Christmas carolers, but by members of the cast of Trial by Jury, the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta which opens tomorrow at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre.

Under the direction of Ted Huffman, operatic baritone who will himself play the role of the court Usher, nearly two dozen singing actors have been rehearsing Gilbert's light-hearted satire of British justice, set to Sullivan's equally witty spoof of "grand opera"

All but one of the principal players are new to the Circle. Baritone Gene Lawrence, who sings the Counsel for the Plaintiff, appeared there earlier this year as the Major-Domo in the Sleeping Prince. Red-haired soprano Sally Welts makes her debut as the appetizing young bride, Angelina, who arrives in court in her wedding dress to accuse the Defendant of breach of promise. Edwin, the gay blade who has jilted her for another, will be sung by tenor John Fitzmaurice.

Paul Ransom, frequent performer at the First Theatre, is cast as the Learned Judge, who cannot hide his delight at having his court-room filled with pretty bridesmaids. John E. Craige is foreman of the all-male jury, unashamedly prejudiced in favor of beauty. The supporting chorus of jurymen, bridesmaids and spectators number 17 in all.

Trial by Jury will be preceded by a short comedy by Bernard Shaw, entitled Village Wooing. Featuring Rosamond Zammit and Frederick Rider in its only speaking roles, Village Wooing is directed by Nick Zanides. The double bill plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week, and re-opens December 29 for five more weekends.

MINUTE MAN IV

The tire that lets you
FORGET FREEWAY FEARS

- FORGET FREEWAY FEARS... with a new kind of protection against punctures. Each Minute Man IV contains a puncture-protecting sealant that prevents air from escaping. A nail can puncture a Minute Man IV. No air escapes. No flat. You don't even have to stop, no matter what speed you're traveling.
- FORGET FREEWAY FEARS... with extra rubber on the edge for extra safety. Tires get the most stress and wear on the edge of the tread. That's where we've put extra rubber in the Minute Man IV. Result: Sure-footed cornering and a luxury ride.
- FORGET FREEWAY FEARS...with a deeper tread for extra skidresistance. The tread of the Minute Man IV is 33½% deeper than the tread of tires that come on new cars. You get more "hold" on the road, more resistance to skids.
- You get a tire that's tougher throughout, more resistant to curb bruises.

* * * *

On approved credit you can buy a Minute Man IV with nothing down and take up to 15 months to pay. Why shop around?

Remember. When you drive on any Union 76 Tire you enjoy the extra confidence of 7-day-a-week service throughout the West. You don't have to wait for a store to open on Monday if you have a tire problem on Sunday.

Just drop in at the sign of the 76 — anytime.

Mr. and Mrs. John Philipp Becker, above, cut their wedding cake at the reception following their marriage Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in Asilomar Chapel. Mrs, Becker is the former Priscilla Louise Clark of Carmel.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Karel V. Vit before the large west window of the chapel opening on a vista of sunlit sand dunes beneath spreads ing pines. Pine boughs, framing the window and mingled with white stock at the altar rail, served to unify the inside of the chapel with the natural beauty of the outside view. Standard vases filled with white chrysanthemums and huckleberry greens, also white candles in tall candelabra, decorated the altar area and harmonized with the white dunes and deep green pines outside.

Priscilla entered the chapel to Wagner's wedding march played by the Aptos Woodwind Quintet, which also performed Beethoven and Mozart music while the guests gathered before the marriage service, and the Rossini recessional as the wedding party left the chapel.

Given in marriage by her father, Dr. Howard Elton Clark, Priscilla wore a white brocade gown which had a fitted bodice with a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, accented with tiny self bows, above a billowing skirt which fell, in back, below the hip-line, into a chapel train. Delicate seed pearl sprays held her double fingertip veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and moth orchids. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, the latter brought to her from Copenhagen by the bridegroom.

She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. Elton Clark of Los Angeles, as maid of honor, also two bridesmaids, Mrs. Burton Pike of Modesto, a Stanford classmate of Priscilla's, and Eleanor Becker, sister of the bridegroom. They were dressed alike in rich delphinium blue brocade dresses with matching shoes and veiled velvet bow headdresses. The large white chrysanthemums in their cascade bouquets repeated the flower motif in their gowns.

Frederick Purdy of Alexandria, Virginia, was best man for the bridegroom. Us hers were John Jensen of Hastings-on-Hudson, New York; Burton Pike of Modesto; Craig Barnes of Palo Alto; and the bride's brother, H. Elton Clark of Los Angeles

Mrs. Clark attended her daughter's marriage in a perwinkle blue lace over satin steath dress under a velvet coat of deeper hue, matching hat and shoes and a white moth orchid corsage.

Mrs. Addison J. Becker of Winchester, Massachusetts, the bridegroom's mother, was clad in a beige sheath dress embroidered with seed pearls, harmonizing hat and shoes and a cymbidium corsage.

The reception following the wedding was held at the Outrigger with the panorama of Monterey Bay seen through windows before which the bridal party greeted the guests. Mrs. Joseph Wythe arranged the bride's table on which stood the four-tiered wedding cake topped by lovebirds loaned by Mrs. Duncan Murray. Dorothy Adams of San Francisco was in charge of the bride's book.

After the bridal couple cut their wedding cake and were toested in champagne, the bride changed to a three-piece blue tweed suit, tiny black velvet veiled hat and black accessories, with the orchids from her wedding bouquet as a corsage, before leaving with her husband for the first part of their honeymoon in northern California. Today they are flying East to New England where the bridegroom, on Saturday, will be best man at his brother's wedding in Winchester, Massachusetts. On December 28 they will sail from New York on the S.S. United States for Europe.

They will live for the next two years in Germany where the bridegroom, a United States Foreign Service officer, will be attached to the American consulate in Stuttpart.

Priscilla is a graduate of the Carmel school system and Stanford University. She was employed by the U.S. State Department Reception Center for Foreign Visitors in San Francisco until this fall when she went to Washington, D.C., to work in the U.S. Bureau of Cultural Affairs.

Her husband is a graduate of Brown University where he was affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity. He served with the U.S. Army for three years, part of this time as a student of Russian at the Army Language School here.

Family members from out of town who attended John and Priscilla's marriage included the bridegroom's father, Addison J. Becker; Priscilla's uncle, Henry E. Keyes of Atherton, and Mrs. Keyes; her great uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hastings of San Francisco; the bridegroom's uncle, John W. Wylie of Colorado Springs, Colorado, and Mrs. Wylie; Priscilla's great-aunt, Mrs. Jenness B. Frear of Pasadena; and Mrs. Frear's daughter, Mrs. Paul Hunt of Pasadena, with Mr. Hunt and their children.

Charlton Family Gathering

Mrs John P. Broshard left Carmel Sunday for her home in Decatur, Alabama, after a three weeks visit with her mother, Mrs. Aimee Charlton, Mrs. John B. Charlton, with her children, Valerie and Gregory, of Baltimore, Maryland, spent Thanksgiving week in Carmel. They will fly this week from San Francisco to join Major Charlton of the United States Army Intelligence Service in Okinawa.

Dr. Bertrand Tells World Affairs Council The West Endangered By Spread Of Communism As Religion

Dr. Raoul Bertrand of San Francisco State College, formerly of the University of British Columbia, University of Hamburg, University of Beirut, Lebanon, and of the Ministry of National Defense, gave Part II of his analysis of the genesis and development of the Marxian Dialectic and its application in Soviet Communism to the Monterey Peninsula World Affairs Council in the Carmel High School this month.

The talk, Communism as Religion, was, in essence, a continuation of Dr. Bertrand's introduction to Communism with which he opened the World Affairs current season on September 22.

Dr. Bertrand opened his latest talk with a short reference to the subject matter of his earlier address in which something of the life, nature and accomplishments of the man, Karl Marx, had been reviewed in relation to the philosophy of his times (1818-1883), He had told of the breadth of Marx studies and of the scholarly devotion that he gave throughout his life to the development and propagation of his several theses of society, production and government. Marx, credited with having been an indefatigable scholar all of his life, had formidable knowledge of the Greek classics, politics and philosophy, and of subsequent philosophy down to the German philosophies of Kant and Hegel, and even of the English economists, Adam Smith and John Locke, Dr. Bertrand pointed out, and added that on observation, it would appear that of the Greeks he was influenced most by Democritus; of contemporary thinkers, followed Hegel most closely.

Dr. Bertrand made the point that Marx brought nothing new or original to the field of philosophy, but for his own purposes, borrow ed everything from others, and made a synthesis of ideas evolved by others, which, in time, has come to be known as Marxist theory or

The Marxist theory, dialectic or doctrine has an ethical basis, and it includes many ethical overtones that stem from Christian doctrine. In fact, Marxism is a Western concept, put together by Westerners, and reflecting indubitably the influence of 3,000 years of Judaic-Christian philosophy. Marx himself, being the son of a Jewish-German lawyer who had adopted Christianity, was a product of Western culture and mores, Dr. Bertrand declared.

It is not without significance, he said, that Marxism and Christianity have for their ultimate goals the realization of an absolute good; although, for Marx, good was the function of science, annulling any necessity for a God.

To Marx, science set up an hypothesis, then went to work to validate the hypothesis by collecting a series of incidents that were in harmony and assumed to confirm the predication, whereas, actually, science sets up an hypothesis then promptly goes about knocking it down until its impregnability is finally established. Marx never fully recognized the difference between opinion and fact, giving credence to opinion that might not be fact, Dr. Bertrand indicated.

Marx set up the hypothesis that the effective deterrent to absolute good is to be found in the human creation of class, something that divides man from man so that democracy may not function, thus hindering the "good" from its necessary equal distribution, Dr. Bertrand continued.

In order to find acceptance, Marxist doctrines have to be imbued with religious fervor. There must be a Saviour, a resolver of classes, good and evil. This function is, in Marx, to be found in the State, Dr. Bertrand said.

In the Christian-Judaic religion, man's salvation-need is found in the worship of God. In the Marxian religion, man's salvation comes by worship of the State. Man's good in the one case comes by doing the will of God, in the other by doing the will of the State. The action in either case becomes religious in the measure of the dedication evoked.

In the Marxian scheme, the State is called upon to exercise many harsh measures in its resolution of the theory of exploited and exploiter classes. Eventually this resolution, if accomplished, dissolves the role of the State. The State withers away. Men live happily together without coercion. This is the goal of absolute good, in a Marxist heaven, according to

In this heaven there is no conflict, no need for responsibility. All Man's problems are cared for by an omnipotent source, the totalitarian head of the State.

Joy and pleasure in these objectives is determined by the measure of dedication accorded the philosophy of this concept, Dr. Berrand indicated.

The watchword of the early Christians was to carry the gospel to all the people. Correspondingly, the watchword of the Communist is the same, to carry the gospel of Communism to all people, Deeply dedicated Communists are doing

What the Christian seems incapable of conceiving, is the tremendous appeal that class elimination and relief from responsibility makes to the multitudes, he claimed. The Communists say these fac-tors are the inevitable working of history, and that being history, nothing can stop their effective-ness. Nothing will, unless and until the ennui incident to the attainment of would-be security goals, palls on, and revolts the West into positive action, he con-

Gamble's Galleries, 428 Cannery Row, will continue to exhibit the work of Jean Varda, Margaret Brunn, John Magill and the late Frank Myers through January 10.

The large center gallery is ingeniously divided to contain three exhibits, paintings by John Magill and Margaret Brunn, collages by Varda. Myers' pictures are shown in the main gallery.

Gamble's Galleries, spacious and open in back above the waterfront, is one of the Peninsula's newer galleries. Shown, in addition to pictures, are ceramics, sculptures, silks, rugs and other elegant and interesting articles for the home. Several hundred persons attended the preview of Christmas decorations by Peninsula artists given at the headquarters of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts last Friday evening. The decorations, donated by the artists to AFA, were sold to support the organization's projects. In addition, lucky ticket holders took home small pictures donated by artists and displayed on a Christmas tree.

Janet Fehring Tells Lions About Visits To Clubs In Austria

Janet said they were equaliy warmly received by the chub of Steyr, which is "a quaint town, something like Carmal.

She also met the student, Gerald Ponshab, to whom the local Lions sent a $300 scholarship. A first-year student of pre-law at the University of Vienna, Ponshab is one of a family of five children whose attorney father was killed during World War II. He alone among the five has been able to attend a university, Janet said.

Following a period of six months during which she studied in Florence at Stanford-in-Italy, Janet and her friends visited Switzerland, went up the Rhine River, stayed as guests in a 14th Century castle. visited with a family near Cologne and arrived in Berlin after the wall was closed.

Janet said the high point of her Berlin visit was an interview with the head of the Communist Youth Organization of East Germany. Afterwarning the girls that America was being run by a fascist government, the youth added that any money spent on Radio Free Europe and similar propaganda attempts on the part of the West is money wasted. The information is neither listened to, nor believed if heard, he told Janet.

The German girl who translated for the youth leader came to the three students later, Janet said, and, in tears, warned them not to believe what the official had said.

Visits to Munich, a stay in the Alps, and trips to Sorrento, Capri, Nice, Cannes, Monaco, Madrid, Paris, Belgium and Holland rounded out Janet's tour. She had visited Norway and England during a mid-term vacation of her school.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fehring of Carmel and graduated in 1959 from Carmel High School.
